			Label Commune Citoyenne is a quality label designed for Moroccan municipalities that promote good governance practices. USAID has been	1									1
			engaged in a co-design effort of this locally-driven initiative along with the	1									1
			German Development Agency (GIZ), and several local NGOs. While this initiative is about granting labels to communes who meet a certain number of										1
			good-governance indicators, the difficulty is to support communes that are	1									1
